Integrated SSC course launched

Times Report

The government has introduced the in egrated course at the Secondary School Certificate (SSC) level from the current month. The students who have just been promoted to Class-IX will be the first batch to go through the new course.

A detailed curricula has aiready been tramed and books based on it are awailing distribution for the integrated course. Science has been made a compulsory paper. The learners will get instructions in mathematics, history geography basic agriculture techniques. The integrated course prepared through years of deliberations at difficent levels seeks to impart 'complete education' to learners at the level. with a view to ensuring that those who would not be able to take up higher studies after passing SSC examination were level.

equipped with at least some knowledge to earm a livelihood.

Specialisation at the SSC level was considered as too early. And its effect on national development was negative. For, more than 50 per cent of SSC pass-cuis who cannot take up higher studies find themsel-] ves in a helpless situation. Those passing in Humanities group know little about basic principles of commercial activities and even less about the knowledge of science that affects day-to-day life. Similar was the case with those who cassed in and Science groups for they got no instructions about the basics of history civics, or environment.

The integrated course, it is hoped, would upgrade the standard of education at the SSC level.
