

One killed in BCL factional clash in Ctg

Our Correspondent
Chittagong

A MAN was shot dead in a clash between two factions of the Bangladesh Chhatra League, the associate student body of the ruling Awami League, in Chittagong city's Kamal Gate area on early Tuesday.

The deceased was Abdul Jahed, 45, son of late Abdur Razzak of Kamal Gate area under Sadarghat police station of the port city.

The officer-in-charge of Sadarghat police station, Md Mainul Islam Bhuiyan, said two factions of local BCL, one led by Royal and another led by Anis, locked into a clash at Kamal Gate around 1:00am over establishing supremacy in the area.

At one stage, unknown miscreants fired gunshots targeting Royal's followers, leaving Jahed critically injured on the spot, Mainul said.

Family members and fellows took him to Chittagong Medical College and Hospital where the on-duty doctor pronounced him dead in the afternoon, he said.

Police sources said the two groups had a longstanding feud with each other over controlling local jhut (garment wastes) business and establishing supremacy in the area.