SPEAKERS at a seminar on Tuesday called on the media people to play a responsible role in countering extremism.

They made the call while addressing a seminar titled 'Media will resist militancy' held at the RC Majumder Auditorium of Dhaka University organised by mass communication and journalism department marking its 54th founding anniversary.

With department chairperson Professor Mofizur Rahman in the chair, the programme was also addressed, among others, by the university vice-chancellor AAMS Arefin Siddique, chief information commissioner Professor Golam Rahman and Professor Abul Mansor Ahmed.

Attending the seminar as key speaker, DU MCJ department honorary Professor Sakhwat Ali Khan urged the media to unmask the faces of the masterminds who are involved in misleading the country's young generation through brainwash.

Professor AAMS Arefin Siddique said that Bangladesh is a non-communal country and there is no room for extremists.

He urged the media people to come up with more awareness building reports to campaign against the extremism.
