The Rajshahi University authorities have scheduled the admission tests of first year honours courses under 2018-2019 academic sessions for October 22 and 23.

According to the university registrar office, the first year admission tests will be held in October 22-23 while the online application process will begin on September 1 and continue till September 15.

A sub-committee of the university admission tests committee made the decision in a meeting at the university senate building on Sunday, said RU deputy registrar (academic) AHM Aslam Hossain.

According to the decision of the committee, students having GPA 7.50 combining SSC and HSC results in 2017 and 2018 will be considered eligible to apply from humanities group while students from science group need GPA 8.50 and students from business studies group need GPA 8.00.

The committee also fixed the registration fees — Tk 1254 for A unit (arts fine arts faculties), Tk 726 for B unit (business studies faculty and Institute of Business Administration), Tk 1254 for C unit (science and engineering faculties), Tk 990 for D unit (life and earth science and agriculture faculties), and Tk 1122 for E unit (social science and law faculties).

The university authorities will launch some new departments from 2018-2019 academic sessions.

Of those, business and trade law department under law faculty and tourism and hospitality management department under business studies faculty had got approval from the University Grant Commission, the deputy registrar said.
