The online application process for the first year honours courses admission tests under 2018-19 session of Islamic University in Kushtia began on Saturday and it would continue till October 10, IU registrar office officials said.

IU acting registrar SM Abdul Latif told New Age that the admission tests of 32 departments would held, from November 4 to 7, in 4 units instead of 8 units from this academic session.

The admission seekers could register themselves paying money from Dutch-Bangla mobile banking (Rocket).

The applicants would have to pay Tk 500 for 'A' unit, Tk 1500 for unit, Tk 800 for <C> unit and Tk 1,300 for <D> unit, the registrar said.

The university authorities would take the intake test introducing written exam beside taking MCQ from this year, he said.
