Education minister Nurul Islam Nahid on Sunday said that a radical positive change had been brought in the country's educational era during the regime of incumbent prime minister Sheikh Hasina.

He said the present government was working relentlessly to boost up the quality of the country's education to the international standard.

Nahid said these while he was addressing the introductory ceremony of newly elected committee of Sylhet Agricultural University Teachers' Association held on the university campus in the afternoon.

He also highlighted the role of agriculturalists in making the country self-reliant in food and in reducing poverty rate.

The SAU teachers' association president Pijush Kanti Sarker presided over the programme that was addressed, among others, by the university vice-chancellor Professor Matiar Rahman Hawlader, the association general secretary Shahidul Islam and Professor Syed Sayem Uddin Ahammad.

Later in the afternoon, the education minister also addressed a discussion programme held at the convocation ground on the campus with the SAU vice-chancellor in the chair.

Ruling Awami League organising secretary Misbah Uddin Siraj, district AL general secretary Shafiqur Rahman Chowdhury, SAU dean council convener Md Abul Kashed, Sylhet MC College principal Nitai Chandra Chanda, Secondary and Higher Secondary Department divisional director Harun-or Rashid and Sylhet Government College principal Ataur Rahman, among others, also addressed the programme.

Earlier, the education minister also inaugurated the newly constructed Veterinary, Animal and Biochemistry Faculty building and the university guest house and laid foundation stone of the university auditorium.
