Prof Farzana Islam reappointed as JU VC

JU Correspondent

ANTHROPOLOGY department professor Farzana Islam has been reappointed as the vice-chancellor of Jahangirnagar University for her second four-year term.

The education ministry on Sunday issued a gazette notification signed by deputy secretary Jinnat Ara in this regard.

It said that the university chancellor, Abdul Hamid, president of the country, had appointed her for four years as per section 11(1) of Jahangirnagar University Act 1973.

Professor Farzana told New Age that Abdul Hamid and education minister Nurul Islam Nahid congratulated her over telephone following her appointment for the second consecutive term.

She became the first woman vice-chancellor of a Bangladeshi public university when she was appointed on March 2, 2014.

Professor Farzana was born at Bhedarganj in Shariatpur in 1957. She did her Master's in sociology at Dhaka University in 1980 and joined Chittagong University as a lecturer of sociology in 1982.

In 1986, she joined anthropology department at Jahangirnagar University.
