Teaching is not a profession for becoming rich, rather it is a profession for building the nation, observed University Grants Commission chairman Kazi Shahidullah on Sunday.

‘Morality, dedication and commitment are highly needed to become a teacher. People in this profession should come by choice. Only the best candidates with right mental frame should get the job,’ he said.

The UGC chairman made the remarks while addressing a meeting of College Education Development Project in the UGC office in Dhaka as the chief guest, said a UGC press release.

Planning and Development Division director Ferdous Zaman, CEDP project director AKM Mokhlesur Rahman and World Bank senior operation’s officer Mokhlesur Rahman, among others, were present.
