At least five activists of Bangladesh Chhatra League of Chittagong University unit were injured after they engaged in clashes with local people following an altercation over parking a motorcycle on a road near CU Gate 2 on Sunday afternoon.

Both sides clashed with sharp weapons. They hurled stones at each other, said witnesses.

However, the identity of the injured could not be known but the BCL sources confirmed that they were the students for the session 2019-20 of different departments.

The students are the followers of CU BCL former organising secretary Mohammad Elias, said sources.

When contacted, Mohammad Elias told New Age that locals carried out an attack on the students at gate 2. Five BCL activists were injured in the attack.

CU proctor Rabiul Hasan Bhuiyan told New Age that some students engaged in clashes with locals following an altercation over parking a motorcycle on a road.

‘The situation is under control now,’ he said, adding that additional police personnel were deployed on the campus.
