North South University on Thursday awarded 12 faculty members at a ceremony at NSU Auditorium for their research excellence during 2021 and 2022, said a press release.

The awards ceremony was chaired by NSU vice chancellor professor Atiqul Islam.

And it was organized by NSU's Office of Research and the event was also addressed by chief guest, University Grants Commission member, professor Biswajit Chanda.

The awardees received gold, silver, or bronze medals according to merit, a certificate of recognition, and a monetary award.

The NSU Board of Trustees approved the awards for the twelve faculties from the Schools of Business Administration and Economics, Engineering and Physical Sciences, Health and Life Sciences, and Humanities and Social Sciences.

At the awards ceremony, the speakers called upon the government to grant permission to selected private universities, including NSU, to offer PhD degrees.

NSU research office director, professor Norman K Swazo oversees research administration at the university, enhancing NSU's reputation as a leading regional research institution.
