Green University of Bangladesh organised '2022 International Collegiate Programming Contest Asia Dhaka Regional Contest' on March 11 at the permanent campus of the University in Purbachal American City in Narayanganj.

The 'DU Kronos' team representing Dhaka University was declared the champion of the competition while 'DU Not Ready Yet' representing Dhaka University was announced as the first runner-up and the 'BUET Sommohto' of Bangladesh University of Engineering Technology got the second runner-up position.

This time, 162 teams from 92 universities of the country participated in the final competition.

Information and Communication Technology Division secretary Md Shamsul Arefin attended the program as the chief guest. Green University vice chancellor professor Md Golam Samdani Fakir Fakir was also present.

In the program, the chief guest handed over the prizes to the winners while distinguished professor and chief judge of the contest Mohammad Kaykobad, University of Dhaka Computer Science and Engineering professor Md Abdur Razzaque, BCC executive director Ranjit Kumar, ICPC Dhaka Regional associate director professor Abul L Haque were present in the event.

In the prize giving ceremony, the speakers said that the programming contest helps to build logic and increased problem-solving skills.

Besides this, the competitions give talented students the chance to communicate, exhibit, and develop their programming and teamwork. It provides academia, business, and the general public with a platform to highlight and elevate the aspirations of the upcoming generation of computing professionals as they strive for excellence.
