The Dhaka University authorities suspended a student of the Department of Criminology yesterday on the allegation of sexually harassing junior female students.

The authorities also sent Sakin Tanvir, a student of 2016-17 academic session, a show-cause notice and asked him why he would not be expelled from the university.

He was asked to reply in seven working days, said a press release signed by Mahmud Alam, director of the DU's Public Relations Office.

During investigation, he was found guilty of sexually harassing senior female students of the department, the release said.

DU Vice Chancellor Prof Md Akhtaruzzaman approved the suspension.

Earlier, a group of students submitted a written complaint to the proctor's office against the student. Then, a probe committee was formed by the authorities.
