

DU bans loudspeakers, music, honking from 6pm

Photo: Star

Dhaka University has banned the use of loudspeakers and honking on and around the campus and residential halls from 6:00pm.

A notice was issued in this regard by the DU proctor's office last night after students held a demonstration in front of the vice-chancellor's residence protesting the noise pollution on and around the campus.

For all latest news, follow The Daily Star's Google News channel.

The demonstration started at 9:30pm and continued till the notice was issued around 11:30pm.

The notice said playing loud music, using loudspeakers or hand-held megaphones, and blowing horns has been banned on the Dhaka University campus.

In order to maintain a proper environment for studying, no programmes can be held using speakers or microphones in TSC, Swadhinata Chattar, halls and residential areas 6:00pm onwards, it said