Students from the 2018-19 academic session of the Veterinary and Animal Science Department at Rajshahi University (RU) have confined a teacher for several hours and staged a sit-in protest, demanding the publication of their exam schedule and permission to appear for the BCS examination.

The protest began at 12:30pm today at the Faculty of Agriculture building and was still going on till the time of filing the report.

However, students released the confined teacher at 8:45pm as the department chairman took an immediate action of publishing exam routine.

Zakir Hossain, student of that department informed that their routine has been published and the exam will start from 21 January. Added on, form fill-up will start from tomorrow.

The confined teacher was Professor SM Kamruzzaman, chairman of the exam committee for the 2018-19 batch of the Veterinary and Animal Science Department. The protesting students belong to the same batch.
