About admission test, Helal Uddin said a meeting of the central admission committee was held on Thursday at the BAU Vice-Chancellor's office with BAU VC Dr AK Fazlul Haque Bhuiyan in the chair.

The meeting decided to hold the admission test on April 12. The test will begin at 11 am simultaneously across the country.

In the meeting it was also decided to retain three quota categories -- three percent for the freedom fighters' descendants, one percent for persons with disabilities and one percent for underprivileged ethnic minorities or residents of hilly regions.

Admission seekers will be able to submit application from February 15 to March 16 paying a total of TK 1,200.

The other terms and conditions for the admission test remain unchanged. For further details students are advised to visit official website: <https://acas.edu.bd>.
