Tension at TT: college over buldg erection

Staff Correspondent -

There was tension at the Teachers Training College. Dhaka on Tuesday over a move by the education authorities to erect a new building in the eastern side of the College premises.

The students boycotted their classes protesting against the move, because the construction of the new building for School Science Education Project, would lead to either removal elsewhere, or demolition of a memorial sculpture. The sculpture was created in connection with the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the college in 1969.
