BUET '92-93 session begins

Bangladesh University of Engineering and Technology (BUET) began classes of its 1992-93 session under special arrangement from Wednesday, six months ahead of schedule, said a University Press release, reports UNB.

Addressing the new students at a function Wednesday at the university central auditorium, BUET Vice Chancellor Prof Mohammad Shahjahan called the engineers "pilots of the 21st Century"—the era of privatisation.

"In this era, only the hard working and the most efficient and creative among the engineers will survive the tough competition," the VC said.

Recalling the glorious heritage of the University, Prof Shahjahan urged the students to be modern in thinking. He also assured them that the BUET would be free from session jams in near future.

Dean of Civil Engineering Prof Alamgir Mojibul Huq and Student Welfare Director Prof A S O. Karni also spoke on the occasion.
