Application for SPRING (Asia) invited

The University of Dortmund (UDO), Germany (FRG) with the Asian Institute of Technology (AIT) Bangkok, Thailand, invite applications for SPRING (Asia), a joint Master of Science programme in regional development planning which is to commence in May 1989. This cooperative effort in planning education has been launched through funds provided by the Ministry for Economic Cooperation of ERS.

Spring acronym for special planning of regions in growing economies is a two-year professional education programme conducted in English.

It is specifically tailored to enable planners, managers, and administrators of developing countries to play active and useful roles in rural-regional development processes.

Applicants must possess a four-year bachelor's degree or its equivalent from a recognized academic institution in a planning related field. In addition to high levels of academic performance, applicants are expected to have a good proficiency in English. A limited number of scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis.

Requests for application forms and further information may be sent to: The SPRING (Asia) Programme, Division of Human Settlements Development Asian Institute of Technology G.P.O. Box 2754 Bangkok 10501, Thailand.
