

Edn system needs reform, says Mamun

By Staff Correspondent

Kazi Mohammad Shamim-Al-Mamun of Notre Dame College jointly stood first in the HSC combined merit list of Science Group under Dhaka Board securing 953 marks and letters in four subjects.

Second son of Sahjahan Kazi, a government official and Jahanara Khandaker, a teacher of Ideal School, Mamun aspires to be a computer engineer.

Expressing satisfaction over his result, he said, "I had been sure of this result all along."

Mamun, who also stood first in the combined merit list in the SSC examination, used to study for an average of 8 hours a day.

In an interview with The Daily Star, he said, "my college principal and teachers and especially my mother contributed a lot behind my result."

He is interested to study in Australia or Japan if he gets a scholarship, or he prefers BUET.

He is not interested in student politics and said "students should think about study not politics."

He pointed out that the existing education system should be changed and that the syllabus is not adequate either, needs reform.

Mamun enjoys reading books during his leisure. He is from Gopalganj.
