Law Examination

Centre, Narayanganj

Sir,—I, a student of Narayanganj Law College come to learn from reliable sources that the centre at Narayanganj Law College has been shifted. There is no denying the fact that Narayanganj is famous for her trade and commerce, education and culture and as such a Law College was established here in 1965. In spite of being a subdivisional town the above examination Centre has also been here since the establishment of the college and students of all walks of life have been appearing at the examination at this centre. Generally the Law students belong to middle and lower middle class families. The change of the centre will put the candidates into great difficulties in so far as monetary, conveyance and time are concerned.

The students of Narayanganj Law College come from Munshigonj (20 per cent) Narsingdhi (20 per cent) Arihazar (25 per cent) Monohardi (10 per cent) & Narayanganj town and its suburbs (25 per cent). From the above breakup it is quite clear that the candidates will face great difficulties in appearing at the Examination Centre at Dacca University. The local people also feel the necessity of a Centre here.

We therefore request the authority concerned to please retain the examination centre here in the greater interest of the poor students. —Yours etc., MD. ABDUS SAMAD.
