the Provosts of the halls would hold discussions with student representatives and the attached teachers of their respective halls to get them more and more involved in the work. After such discussions a general meeting of students of the respective halls and would be called for further discussion and the teachers and students would work unitedly to put an end to the stay of non-students in the halls and anti-social activities in the Campus.

It may be mentioned here that the Dacca University Campus has witnessed in the post-independence days crimes which generally characterised under-ground world.

Only in past eight months as many as 46 crimes, hijack, theft, rape, murder and armed clashes were committed. A total of 25 persons including outsiders were arrested and police authorities claimed that a very organised band worked to create indiscipline in the Campus.

Police in cooperation with the university authorities raided the halls of the University on many occasions after independence and each time arms were recovered and non-students were found to stay in the halls.
