

Flood and DU Exam date

The degree (pass and subsidiary) examinations of the Dhaka University will begin from October 15, 1987. It means the said examinations are going to be held within about one month and a half. We feel that the examinations should be held according to the fixed schedule. Because the session jam has been notoriously a regular affair in different universities of Bangladesh.

But due to the serious damage caused by the present unprecedented flood the majority of the candidates of the above examinations are not being able to take necessary preparation for their examination. Many houses at different places of the country are still under water. It is also not possible to say how long this misery will stay. Under the circumstances I feel that the candidates of degree (pass and subsidiary) examinations of 1987 should be given extra time so that they are able to make up for their loss in study time. I fervently request the uni-
