Call to eliminate campus terrorism

The Vice-Chancellor of Dhaka University Prof. Abdul Mannan on Wednesday urged all to make every effort to eliminate terrorism from the campus, reports BSS.

In a statement from his hospital bed, he said a situation on the campus where students had to give their lives could not be allowed to continue any longer. He appealed to the government and the political parties to sit together and discuss to evolve ways to combat violence in the campus.

The Vice-Chancellor mentioned the killing of a student leader during the violence on Sunday. What else could be more unfortunate and shameful than this situation in a place like the university? he asked.

Prof. Mannan said students were killed again and again in the university. The university is shut down after every killing but students are again killed when the campus is reopened.

Stressing the need for eliminating terrorism from the campus, the Vice-Chancellor said he personally felt that it would not be justifiable to reopen the university unless there is a pledge from the government, political and student organisations that there would be no repetition of such killings in the future.
