Degree exams at two more centres cancelled

DU Correspondent

The Dhaka University authorities have cancelled the degree examination centres of Sarishabari and Dhanbari Colleges and all the degree (pass and subsidiary) examinations held at these centres this year.

The action was taken on the basis of the reports by the controller of examinations, proctor and assistant proctors of the university who visited the centres on December 29. During their visit they found the examinees openly adopting unfair means in the examinations and hundreds of outsiders were involved in supplying copies to the examinees.

Earlier on Wednesday, the university authorities cancelled the Gafargaon degree examination centre and all the degree (pass and subsidiary) examinations of 1988 held at that centre.
