Sharishabari, Dhanbari Degree exam centres cancelled

All Degree Pass and subsidiary examinations of 1988 held at the Sharishabari Degree College and Dhanbari Degree College centres under the Dhaka University have been cancelled as the examinations there took place under an atmosphere of complete lawlessness and indiscipline, reports BSS.

The university authorities have also cancelled the centres, a Dhaka University Press release said on Saturday.

The Controller of Examinations of Dhaka University along with the Proctor and the Assistant Controller of Examinations during their visit to the centres on December 21 found that hundreds of people were engaged in supplying copies to examinees, totally violating the rules of examinations. They also found that examinations were being held under the control of outsiders and the centres' authorities were playing the role of "silent spectators". The inspectors came to know, after investigation, that examinations were being held at those centres under such "farcical conditions" from the beginning.

Another team sent earlier to those centres to oversee examinations also gave similar reports.

The university authorities, as such, cancelled the Degree Pass and subsidiary examinations, 1988 held at those centres as well as cancelled the centres according to Clause 19 of rules and provisions governing the examinations, the Press release added.
