B.Ed exam under distance edn system begins

The first semester examination of the first ever B.Ed. course through distance education system began on Friday in 10 teachers training colleges of the country, reports BSS.

Under distance education system the students are not required to attend any formal classroom teaching. Instead, they can complete the course by attending radio programmes broadcast every Monday, reading the text books published by the Bangladesh Institute of Distance Education (BIDE), and listening to the cassetts supplied by the institute.

More than three thousand in-service high school teachers from all over the country are taking part in the examination. 650 candidates including 10 from the Army Education Corps are appearing in the Dhaka centre.

Dr. K.M. Sirajul Islam, Director, BIDE told BSS that the first day of the examination passed peacefully in all the 10 teachers training college centres.
