Mymensingh medical college closed

MYMENSINGH, May 2 — Mymensingh Medical College was today declared closed for an indefinite period after agitating students locked its administrative building and Principal's office today, reports UNB.

Campus sources said Academic Council of the college took the decision to avert further trouble on the campus.

Hostel residents were asked to vacate their dormitories by 4 p.m. today (Sunday).

The resident students of the college were in movement for realising their six-point demand, including security in the dormitories.

A meeting between the student representatives and the college authorities on Saturday failed to resolve the issues.
