

New question system in SSC exam planned

Education Minister Nurul Islam Nahced today said creative question system would be introduced in SSC examinations from 2010, reports BSS.

He made this disclosure at a press briefing in the conference room of the ministry.

The minister said primarily the new question system would be introduced for two subjects - Bangla first paper and Religion in SSC exams.

More subjects would be included in each group in the following years. These are Geography and General Science in Humanities Group, Business and General Science in Commerce Group, Social Science and Chemistry in Science group.

Nahced said with a view to maintain equal standard in pre-test and test exams of SSC in 2010, question papers will be supplied centrally.

The examination fees, however, will remain unchanged, he added.

(See Back Page Col. 4)

New question

(From Page 1 Col. 3)

The minister said training and monitoring system would be strengthened to increase skill of the teachers in this connection.

He sought cooperation from all concerned including students, teachers and guardians to introduce the creative system smoothly.

Chairman of the parliamentary standing committee on Ministry of Education Rashed Khan Menon, Education Secretary Syed Ataur Rahman, Director General of Secondary and Higher Secondary Directorate Prof M Noman ur Rashid, Dhaka Board Chairman Prof Sham-sul Haque were also present in the press briefing.