

Examination rescheduled Victim SSC candidates asked to report by Mar 10

Education Ministry Saturday decided to reschedule the ongoing SSC examinations only for the BDR mutiny victims, reports UNB.

Education Minister Nurul Islam Nahid told reporters at his residence that they have taken special arrangements for those examinees of BDR mutiny victims who would not be able to appear at the March 1 examination and the remaining ones.

He said the examination that is scheduled for March 1 (Mathematics) would be held (See Page 11 Col. 4) on March 19 while the other examinations would be rescheduled, if necessary.

The examinees have been asked to apply within March 10 through their institutional heads or directly to the Controller of Examination to avail of the opportunity.

The ministry also deferred the March 10 examination due to Eid-e-Miladunnabi on the day.

Replying to a question, the minister said all had been able to appear at Wednesday's examination.

"So far, we haven't received any claim that no one could sit for the exam. If any examinee claims then we'll arrange special arrangement for him or her," Nahid said.

He said the changed programme of the examinations would soon be published in the newspapers.

He, however, said the examinations for other examinees would be held as per previous schedule across the country.

Earlier, the minister expressed his deep shock at the deaths of Army officials and civilians at the BDR headquarters during a two-day mutiny that ended Thursday.
