

RU celebrates 64th // founding anniv today

RU Correspondent

THE Rajshahi University celebrates of its 64th founding anniversary today amid much enthusiasm and festivity on the campus.

The university authorities along with the teachers, students and staff have chalked out various programmes to celebrate 'Rajshahi University Day' with pomp and grandeur.

RU vice-chancellor Professor Abdus Sobhan will inaugurate the celebrations by hoisting the national flag and releasing balloons and festoons at the university administrative building.

Later, a colourful procession will be brought out by the administrators, teachers, students and staff of the university to mark the day.

A discussion programme will also be held at the university senate building where Professor Saidur

Rahman, former vice-chancellor of the university and also former Bangladesh ambassador to the United Kingdom will speak as chief guest.

The university started its journey with only six departments, 20 professors and 161 students.

At present, the university has nine faculties, 55 departments, three institutes, 1,300 teachers, 33,000 students, 17 dormitories and five research bureaus and centers.
