THE first-year honours admission tests of Dhaka University for the academic sessions 2017-2018 begins Friday with the entry examination for the Business Studies faculty under C unit.

The one-hour test will be held from 10:00am to 11:00am at 53 on- and off-campus sites while a total of 29,954 candidates have applied against 1,250 seats under the unit.

DU vice-chancellor Akhtaruzzaman said this in a press conference at Abdul Matin Choudhury Virtual Classroom of the university on Thursday.

The VC also directed the applicants not to cover their face and ear to curb any kind of fraudulence.

The applicants are also prohibited from carrying any kind of electronic device, including mobile phone or any other communicable devices, during the examinations.

The admission test (general knowledge) of fine arts faculty under 'Cha-unit' will be held on September 16. As many as 13,476 aspirants have applied against 135 seats under the fine arts faculty. Admission tests under 'Kha-unit' will be held on September 22 while admission tests for drawing under 'Cha-unit' are scheduled to be held on September 23.

'Ka-unit' admission tests will be held on October 13 and 'Gha-unit' (combined unit) tests for science, business studies and humanities group students will be held on October 20.

The seat plans for the admission tests can be found on the university's admission website: admission.eis.du.ac.bd.
